

Sanctioning body: CVMT promotions

Central Valley Muay Thai (CVMT) will sanction this amateur event to ensure a safe and regulated environment for all participants. The event will include high-level amateur sparring under strict supervision. This fight will not be included in official amateur records but should be reported if sparring bouts are counted. There is no entry fee. Knockouts and elbows are not permitted, and all participants must wear headgear.

The event is regulated, licensed, and insured under CVMT Promotions, with safety as the primary priority. The rules were developed by Muay Thai coaches, certified officials, a registered nurse, and a medical doctor. Certified Muay Thai lead inspectors, judges, and officials will oversee the event. Insurance coverage has been confirmed through Academy West Insurance.

The objective is to conduct fair and safe fights in accordance with established sport regulations. The event supports local, regional, national, and international competition while offering opportunities and visibility for amateur and professional athletes, trainers, promoters, and officials.

All required safety protocols have been implemented to ensure a secure, fair, and equitable experience. The promotion team has significant experience in the industry
